Enthusiasm Prevails: Chauvin Fair Proves A Complete Success

"The fair was very good indeed, and presented some of the finest purebred and grade cattle in the province," says Mr. Duncan Brown, "and another feature of the fair in connection with the cattle exhibit was the great interest taken in the cattle."

"A big success" is the verdict of all who attended the twenty-first annual Chauvin Fair held last Wednesday. A remarkably high standard of quality was to be observed in the showings in every one of the many departments. There was keen competition in a large number of classes. This mind you, in spite of very uncompromising weather and a serious conflict of dates with the Lloydminster three day fair. It was evident that the public were out to support the Agricultural Society in their determination to carry on, despite the reductions in grants and other adverse aid for no less than fifteen seasons, and to encourage amongst them, deciding to hold no fair this year.

Well over one hundred names of awards regarding the good quality of rural of the list of prize winners reveals a number of new names together with a return of some old exhibitors to supplement the regular year in and out of the list of competitors.

There was a large increase in the number of people in attendance at the fair, both town and country being well represented. There was also a number of visitors, amongst whom we noted the presence of Mrs. H. E. Love, our provincial member; Duncan Brown of the Dominion Live Stock branch; Messrs Spencer and Swindhurst of Edgerton; Messrs Hill and Clifton of Wainwright; Mr. Elliott of the U.G.G. live stock branch.

Mr. Duncan Brown says that a very big feature of this particular class, the Dominion government "get of bull" competition open of three offspring of any one sire. He says that everybody expressed the hope that this competition would be kept up from year to year, and it was an almost opinion that next year will see an hundred per cent better show in this particular class. All farmers present entered into the spirit of the scheme and showed the greatest interest and enthusiasm possible.

The judge made very favorable remarks regarding the good quality of the horses with but one exception. Local horsemen may be congratulated upon the measure of success they have obtained. The competition in the three year old Clydesdale class was particularly strong. There was a slight reduction of horses in the ring, owing in part to Lloydminster fair being on the same date. It was noticed that some of our local men a few of them not unconnected with the society abstained from showing this year. Mr. J. G. Clark, who judged the horses, had a difficult task which he performed in a highly satisfactory manner.

The cattle ring was crowded to its capacity with a most excellent and varied showing of Shorthorns, Herefords and Aberdeen Angus animals, and one finds it difficult to state which of these breeds made the best display. Possibly by reason of their uniformity of color the Aberdeen Angus attracted the fancy of a large

Coal Owners Organize

Coal mine operators in southern Saskatchewan met recently to discuss plans for the more effective marketing of lignite coal throughout a much larger territory than at present covered. As a result an effective campaign with this end in view will be inaugurated.

Bishop Lloyd Delivers Most Inspiring Sermon

The Lord Bishop of the Diocese of Saskatchewan, The Right Reverend Dr. G. E. Lloyd, arrived in Chauvin by the early train on Friday last and left again for Saskatoon early on Saturday morning. His Lordship visited Fram (Sask.), and held an inspiring service in the schoolhouse, returning by way of Arie to Chauvin. His Lordship attended Evening Prayer, and administered the Sacrament of Holy Baptism to nine children brought to him for that purpose. His Lordship's address carried with it the convictions which are to take the weaklings from beliefs and shatter them with the rock of Common Sense and Reason. The attendance was very large, and each member of the congregation left the church with the knowledge that they were certainly travelling one of two different paths both of which had been clearly defined in the New Testament.

The bishop held his evening sermon on three clauses of the new prayer for Dominion day. He graphically described the area of the diocese of Saskatchewan, which extended eastward from the tenth range in Alberta to the waters of Manitoba, and north from the boundary to the northern provincial boundaries. A territory big enough in which to place several European countries. After describing the early conditions of this vast territory, he graphically pictured the influx of 250,000 settlers, of whom 15,000 were of British origin, 25,000 and more were of French, 15,000 Russian, 9,000 Norwegian, 5,000 Swedish, and in all were to be found peoples from 70 different nationalities. Amongst whom were 66,000 Roman Catholics and 21,000 Breck Catholics. He referred to the work of the Roman Catholic church and to the work of the Anglican church, and other churches during this period of pioneer work. Their work, which was primarily a work among Indians (this being continued), was now more largely among the newer citizens; constant expansions were being made, and more and more workers engaged. He spoke of the value of the influence of those who on their arrival in the new settlements had endeavored

Inspecting Northern Lines

Inspection of the railway lines in the Peace River country, including the P. D. and P. C. and Central Canada, is being undertaken for the Alberta Government by Messrs James Kennedy and C. E. Cartwright, two experienced railway engineers. A full investigation into the condition of the roads will be made.

Co-Operative Live Stock Shipping Is Discussed

A meeting was held in the Exhibition Hall on the Chauvin fair grounds last Wednesday evening to discuss the inclusion of the Chauvin district into the newly organized co-operative live stock shipping district from Wainwright to Edgerton.

Mr. H. Spencer, who acted as the chairman of the meeting, said that 66 contracts had already been signed by producers to ship for one year on the co-operative basis. Edgerton 9; Dole 11; Heath 14; Wainwright 32. Temporary officers had been elected and it was desired that the Chauvin district also organize, then a joint meeting would be held at which a permanent set of officers would be elected from the whole territory Chauvin to Wainwright. He had pleasure in introducing Mr. W. V. Elliott, superintendent of the Live stock department of the U.G.G., who had come to address them on this matter.

Mr. Elliott called his hearer's attention to the three big mistakes that were being made by the live stock men in marketing their produce. The first was trying to market successfully through the agency of sixty different commission firms, a course he designated as "chaotic." The second mistake was that of district associations trying to sell independently and locally. He pointed out the fact that the U.G.G. was having in their last week the packing interests. In the Calgary market there are eleven commission firms bidding for the stock. The shipper to the packing plants got only the prices made by competitive selling in the open yards, but otherwise was at the mercy of the packer in whose yard his car of stock arrived. The third mistake was trying to sell stock in his own barnyard, in this manner some 500,000 drovers were maintained.

The object of organization was to stop individual selling, for the stock men to get together and sell together. There were now nine territories in Alberta so organized. He gave many particulars of the Vermilion to Kitchissippi district which had been operating for the past year. A man had been placed in this district to advise when and how to ship and give advice as to markets. Service was given at cost

New Stamp Regulations

Becoming effective October 1st the new regulations require that the proper stamps be affixed to cheques and receipts and other papers which must be stamped. The use of the ordinary postage stamps will no longer be permitted.

The new legislation makes letters, including form letters, forwarded by mail, also postcards acknowledging payment of money of $10 and upwards subject to the stamp tax on receipts. One change provided for in the amendment to the Special War Revenue Act makes the maximum tax collectable upon cheques one dollar instead of two dollars as was formerly the case. But the change which will effect the general public most is the regulation stipulating that in future banks and the government will not accept postage stamps in collecting the tax, but will insist upon use of the special revenue stamps issued for the purpose.

OUR SHORT STORY

WHEN HEARTS PASS

At the shortest-legged desk in the little country school house sat Esther her cheeks an expectant glow, her eyes big with expectancy. For it was a day of another wonderful happening of which there had been so many since the new teacher, Miss Elaine Gordon, had come to Manzanita.

This time the wonderful happening was to be a valentine box. What a valentine box really was Esther had no idea. As it stood there like an ordinary every day box with a lid. But Esther was proofed there was some hidden magic within. So, with riveted gaze, she breathlessly watched to see what would happen.

What did happen was a second roll call at recess. And as each little girl and each little boy in answer to their names came up to the desk. Miss Elaine smilingly handed out from the valentine box a large square and very fat envelope addressed in the child's name.

And such a wonderful "letter" as was inside Esther's envelope. All for get-me-not blue and gold and white lace paper. And in its centre was a most lovely picture of a beautiful lady and a beautiful gentleman.

The beautiful lady who of once reminded Esther of her dear Miss Elaine was dressed in a darling sky blue dress with a very plump skirt that looked as if it had mumps on both sides. The beautiful gentleman was attired in a pea-green coat with lace ruffles on its sleeves, very satin knee breeches and low shoes with buckles that sparkled. And what do you suppose? The beautiful gentleman was kneeling at the lady's feet with a large rose-red heart in his outstretched hand.

And underneath the picture were the words: "I am thine own true valentine."

her desk—read it aloud to her, school who gave Esther licorice drops and put long-haired caterpillars in.

So that what a valentine meant—a beautiful gentleman kneeling at a beautiful lady's feet and holding out his heart to her! The woman-child was fascinated, thrilled by this, her first man into the world of romance.

But there was one thing lacking in Bobby Waters—the little boy at the valentine box that grieved loving Esther very much. "Please, Miss Elaine, didn't you get a valentine your own self," asked the child in a distressed tone when, after school, she lingered behind the other children.

"No, I didn't bless your little heart for noticing and caring," answered Miss Elaine, gathering sweet Esther up in her lap and giving her a love squeeze.

And as Miss Elaine finished the hug with a kiss something wet splashed on the child's cheek—a tear that did not belong to Esther.

"Oh, I'm sorry your feelings were hurt at being left out!" said the little girl, in a concerned voice.

"You dear little comfort! There, it's all over!" smiled beautiful Miss Elaine, dashing away another tear. "I was just a big silly. But I get so homesick and lonesome—and was goose enough to remember something that happened last Valentine's day," she added as if thinking aloud rather than talking to the child in her lap. "Was it a valentine that happened?"

eagerly asked Esther. The teacher nodded. "A lovely blue and gold and lace paper one."

"No it wasn't a picture valentine" answered Miss Elaine "as one opens a secret to a child feeling safe in not being understood. "It was a real love letter one."

"A gentleman who knelt at your feet with his heart in his outstretched hand."

"Yes a gentleman who knelt at my feet and held out his heart to me," tremulously smiled Miss Elaine, making the true happening into a child's story. "But I refused to accept the precious gift, so he went away with it and never came back."

"You didn't want the gentleman's heart?" questioned Esther sorrowfully.

"I thought I didn't. But I found out when it was too late that I'd made a terrible mistake."

"I know," said Esther soberly. "Like the little girl who refused the piece of cake when it was passed and wanted it again afterward, but it wasn't handed round over again."

"Exactly," said Miss Elaine with a shaky laugh. "So remember, my dear when you grow up and a perfectly splendid man offers you his heart to take it the first time it's handed round instead of refusing it because of the foolish idea that you prefer your independence and a life of your own."

Now it was not only Valentine day at Manzanita, but sewing society day as well. So when Esther bounded in to the little home house between Manzanita and Centers there was nobody there. And when a little girl has an exciting first valentine to show and nobody to show it to she simply cannot settle down.

"I tell you what I'll do," she finally informed her invisible twin, Rose-Isabelle, with whom she conversed frequently when there was no one else at home. "I've got a whole penny and I'll go to the store and buy a lovely striped stick of candy and take it to school tomorrow for a present to dear Miss Elaine."

And with an important purpose on her small face and the whole penny tied tight in a corner of her handkerchief, Esther trotted off to the store at Centers, where her mother often sent her on errands. The store was next to the railroad station, and as Esther approached the afternoon express came up the track.

Delighted, the child halted to watch it pass. But it did not pass. It stopped. And off got a strange young man with a bag like the one the doctor at Centers carried. And as the store was used as the station's waiting room, the train arrival and Esther entered together.

"Are you the consulting physician from Middleton?" asked Mr. Patch, the proprietor, as he left a customer and came bustling up to the stranger.

"Yes, I'm Dr. Norton," replied the young man in a pleasant voice.

"Well, Dr. Saunders has just phoned that he's been called out on an urgent case unexpected and can't get here inside of an hour, but you're to wait till he comes." And hospitably drawing up a chair to the red-hot store, Mr. Patch gave the visiting doctor an effusive welcome; then drew back to his customer.

"Don't you want to warm yourself, too, kid," asked the young man of Esther, with a pleasant smile, matching the pleasant voice. And, very bashful, Esther drew near. But the young doctor had a way with children and soon they were talking away together like old friends. "And what are you going to buy with your 'whole penny' I should like to know?" he asked after she had confided the pious nature of the knot in her handkerchief.

"A lovely striped stick of candy for teacher at school," beamed Esther.

"Fortunate lady."

"No," said Esther, with sorrowful shake of the head. "She isn't fortunate. She's very unhappy. That's the reason I'm going to take her the stick of candy for a present."

"But why is she unhappy?"

"Because," explained Esther earnestly, "last Valentine's day a beautiful gentleman came and knelt at her feet and held out his heart to her in his hand. But she said 'No, thank you sir.' Like the little girl who didn't take a piece of cake when it was passed, you know. And the gentleman put his heart back in his pocket and went away and never came back."

"A sad story," said the young doctor, with difficulty, trying to hide his amusement.

"Yes," sighed Esther, "dear Miss Elaine cried when she was telling it. She was so awful sorry afterward that she hadn't taken the gentleman's heart when it was passed her."

"Miss Elaine," cried the doctor in a started voice—but no, it couldn't be thought. She was teaching at a place called Manzanita, not Centers. And of course, there was more than one Elaine in the world.

"Yes, ma'am," beamed Esther, forgetting she was addressing a gentleman. "Miss Elaine Gordon. Isn't that a beautiful name. And she came on the train just like you did, and—"

But the young doctor who had sprung to his feet excitedly interrupted. "Show me the house where your teacher lives, kid, and I'll give you as many 'whole pennies' as you can hold in both hands."

Tourists Buy Farm Lands

Tourists who have visited the province recently from United States, registering at the Calgary Auto Camp, have purchased lands in Alberta and will engage in farming here. Twelve of these tourists in the past month have arranged to purchase farms in this province, and one of them has purchased four farms for himself and his sons. Over 4,500 tourists have registered at the Calgary Auto Camp, a large number of them having travelled over the new Banff-Windermere highway. They are all delighted with the scenery provided in the Canadian Rockies.

Indians Celebrate Opening Banff-Windermere Road

1. Indians, gaily caparisoned, await the judges' pleasure. 2. Lieutenant Governor Nichol smokes the pipe of peace—the delight of the oldest members of the tribe (3). 4. Car-No-Sic-Kineet and the Indian chief.

THE Indian, though reticent and un demonstrative, is ever ready to show his appreciation of the fact that the pale face is a friend, a brother to him. More often than not, he takes advantage of his feted days to show this appreciation and good-will in simple ceremonies which honor the white man by bestowing upon him the name of one of their own, and a seat in their family and council circle.

The opening of the Banff-Windermere Motor Highway on June 30th occasioned the gathering of a large number of Kootenay Indians from various reserves, at Laverne, B.C. Here they entertained and were entertained by a host of visitors to the district who, having attended the opening ceremonies were easily induced by the glories of the country to stay for a few days. On this occasion the Kootenays honored Lieutenant Governor W. C. Nichol of B.C. who had officiated with Lieutenant Governor Brett of Alberta, at the opening, by making him an honorary chief of their tribe. Robert Randolph Bruce, a leader in Windermere and Kootenay development was also asked to enter the circle, and after the smoking of the ceremonial pipe and listening to the Huray in the Kootenay language, was dressed in the full panoply of power, head-dress and beaded clothes, and accepted into the tribe as full chief, being given the name of Car-No-Sic-Kineet, which signifies "Red Sky", after a famous council chief of the tribe who has long since passed away. Mr. Bruce expressed his pleasure in a largesse of tobacco and a gift of a one-hundred dollar bank note for the celebration.

This being over the sports were resumed and prizes were awarded to the best-costumed Indian on foot, the best costumed squaw, the best caparisoned Indian on horseback, and to others for neatness of tepees and the best travels and papoose in baby trap, and for their demonstrated skill in athletic sports.

Fruits Grow Well

Displays at the Lethbridge fair this year have established the fact that fruits can grow successfully in certain districts of Alberta. Irrigation farmers in the south had displays of cherries, plums and small fruits, as well as of tobacco. A of these were grown on irrigated lands. One interesting exhibit was that of the U.F.A. of Vauxhall, which showed fifty different soil products. Fruit growing has been taken up in several parts of both southern and northern Alberta with considerable success, and this industry is taking on larger proportions each year.

Homestead Entries

During the past six months of this year 1144 free homestead entries and 260 soldier grants were recorded at Dominion land offices in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. This represents approximately 343,000 acres. In Manitoba 288 homestead and 70 soldier grant entries were recorded; in Saskatchewan 712 and 115 respectively; in Alberta 711 and 101; and in British Columbia 63 and 12. In Saskatchewan homestead entries exceeded those for the same period of last year, but the total for the four provinces shows a small decrease. Soldier grant entries were less than half those recorded during the first half of 1922.

C.N.R. CARRIED RECORD SIZED STEER TO 'PEG STOCK YARDS

The largest steer ever received at the Union Stock Yards, Winnipeg, was brought in on August 1st from Wainwright, Alberta, by the Canadian National Railways. The animal weighs 3,170 pounds, stands six feet at the withers, and is still under five years of age, and brought the record price of $250 to its owners, Messrs. Stuart and Church, of Wainwright. This is the highest sum paid for any steer in Winnipeg since the war, eight cents per pound on the hoof. Messrs. Braden and Tarn, the buyers, are placing same on exhibition at the Winnipeg Citizens' Sports Carnival, to be held within the next few days. J. H. Parsons, of Duhamel, Alberta, was the breeder.

That you and I are now engaged in laying the foundations of the social, civic and religious community life of a great people was the "key note" of the address given by Bishop Lloyd at Chauvin Friday.

Few men are better able to deliver such a message as Bishop Lloyd, who since the days of the Riel rebellion has lived on these plains, moving daily among its many peoples, watching the enormous influx of new citizens, seeing the formation of the thousands of rural communities, hundreds of towns and villages, and a number of cities. He has worked among the native Indians and also settlers from every part of the world. His breadth of vision carries him from the past, through the present, on to the future. That future, he says, we are laying in our daily life and influence.

G. E. Lloyd is first a "man among men," second a "true type of statesman," and shall we say—lastly a "lord-bishop." His eye has seen the incoming of nearly 300,000 new settlers. He has observed the moral effects on the community of those who have steadfastly held fast their religious and social ideals. He has seen the deterioration that inevitably follows the relinquishing of those ideals; and from the experiences of the west through which he has passed, he has reached the practical knowledge of the old truth that "righteousness exalteth a nation."

His views are perhaps most clearly outlined in the following prayer, which was used for the first time in Chauvin, Friday:

PRAYER TAKEN FROM THE SERVICE FOR DOMINION DAY, AS FOUND IN THE PRAYER BOOK OF THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND IN CANADA

Almighty God, who didst lead our fathers into this land, and their feet into a large room: Give Thy grace, we beseech Thee, to us thy children, that we may approve ourselves a people mindful of Thy favour and glad to do Thy will. Bless our Dominion with honourable industry, sound learning, and pure manners: Save us from lawlessness and discord, pride and arrogance, and fashion into one godly people the multitude brought hither out of many kindreds and tongues. Give to all the spirits of service, and love, and mutual forbearance. In prosperity make us thankful unto Thee, and in the days of trouble suffer not our trust in Thee to fail. So that, loving Thee above all things, we may fulfil Thy gracious purpose in this land; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Under the caption of "Gems of Modern Thought," an editor of a prominent American publication recently published the ten commandments; and he was justified in so far that no higher moral code has yet been formed to guide human conduct into the right channel. Canada has been fortunate in having had a long list of active men, who, imbued with these principles, have carried their share of leadership. The results of their work being enjoyed by us all to-day; and Bishop Lloyd clearly portrays that it is at once our duty and privilege to "carry on." He calls on us to express our spiritual beliefs in the active every day round of social, economic and political life.

As a result of the active co-operation of agriculturists, townfolks and others, we have again—for the twelfth time—had a successful fair. This fair, more than its predecessors, is a tangible expression of the appreciation of the labors of the Agricultural Society officers, and also of the value of an annual fair to the community.

"We think the time has come," says the editor of the Red Deer News, "when people attending fairs should be educated to do without mid-way as far as it comprises those games of chance and games of highway robbery. The rides and swings are good and deserve patronage, and they help put the fair over. The rest of the mid-way is pernicious and can only hinder the success of the fair for the following year."

The officers of our local society have most happily found out that a short program of clean healthy local sport is a sufficient variety to add to the more serious part of the fair program. The inclusion of junior baseball and mounted events for the local riders in the sports program was most keenly appreciated by all. Good clean sport for sport's sake—and no money wasted.

LOCAL NOTES

the household. In addition to this it had been found necessary to send out special medicines and other supplies at short notice by car.

Edmonton General Hospital: Letter was read asking as to the intention of the Council in the matter of St. Pierre account. Secretary reported having advised the hospital that Council did not consider itself liable in this case owing to the hospital not having carried out the provisions of the hospital act as to notice etc.

Road Division: Letter was read from Messrs Parcels and Foxwell Re: land for road diversion on S. W. 12-42-2-4. Mr. McChuskey moved that the sum of $17.50 per acre be paid for the land, said sum to include any claim for taxes already paid on same. Carried.

Secretary reported that Mr. C. T. Tizard requested that a road may be made on sec 8-43-2-4, to give him access to the water for his cattle, which he stated had been promised to him when the road was made through that section. The matter was referred to Mr. Dallyn for attention.

Chauvin Cemetery: Letter was read from the Department of the Interior asking that the council forward the measurements required for the Chauvin cemetery as soon as possible to allow the patent being completed in favor of the municipal district. The secretary was instructed to have the graves and bounds measured and forwarded to the department.

Secretary reported having sold one pair of Fresno shoes to the village of Chauvin for the sum of $4.95.

Mr. Dallyn reported that the shoring planks had been removed at the water on the south line of 10-42-2-4, and Mr. McChuskey moved that the secretary report the matter to the police with authority to carry out the necessary proceedings. Carried.

General business: Deputation attended to ask for a revision of the assessment on the north side of township 44-2-4; and this matter was left over to Mr. Sewell to investigate.

Account Mr. Russell was referred back for correction; and the same applied to account Mr. Minnick.

Secretary was instructed to investigate re letter from Mr. White and reply thereto.

Report re hay rack on road allowance was referred to Mr. McChuskey for attention.

Mr. Turvey moved that the meeting adjourn, and the next meeting be held at Chauvin on September 1st. Carried.

To maintain the old principles by the establishment of church services and educational facilities and by their efforts to maintain all movements of an upbuilding nature in their districts. Their work or the lack of it, was clearly indicated by the social and moral tone of the community in this great land which shall follow us in this great land may reap the results of our labors. As a closing illustration he drew a picture from the history of the people of Israel entering into the promised land, to occupy it for God. We may be compared to them in our entrance to this land, and our mission was to help fashion into one Godly people the multitude brought hither out of many kindreds and tongues."

Local Crop Reports

During the past week cold and showery weather has prevailed. The showers have been heavy and frequent though most of them have fallen in small rains. Saturday afternoon was the only spell of warm weather. Two slight touches of frost occurred on Tuesday and Thursday nights of last week. The damage was confined to the foliage of the most tender plants, such as tomatoes, beans, etc., which have survived the ordeal. A third report of the presence of the Colorado potato bug has been received, having in view the terrible destructive power of these pests when they gain foothold it would be well to carefully watch the potato patches and make immediate steps about they be located.

Despite the wet and cold weather the crops have been ripening faster than would have been expected, and the wheat is matured on a very green straw. A number of the most experienced farmers tell us that they will start cutting the latter part of this week or at the commencement of next. They will cut the wheat as soon as the dough has firmly set. They will not wait for the bottom straw to ripen as we have frequently done in drier years. The straw contains sufficient nutriment for the final ripening of the wheat berry; and will finally become first class cattle feed. Estimating crop yields is a risky business, but our estimate of two weeks ago—twenty bushels to the acre—will probably prove too low. There are many fields in all parts of the district that give promise of a yield of thirty-five bushels or more, and a few promise less than twenty, provided that we are soon favored with warmer and drier weather which is now essential.

Egg Marketing In South

Though only opened on June 1, the new provincial government egg marketing plant at Lethbridge has already handled about 25,000 dozen eggs. The plant is being very extensively patronized.

Wedding Bells*BUCK—MONTGOMERY

A quiet wedding was held in the manse on Tuesday July 3. The contracting parties were Mr. J. T. Buck and Miss Ruth Montgomery. A number of relatives were present to witness the ceremony. After receiving hearty congratulations the young couple returned to their home in Airle.

Edinglassie U.F.A.

There was a good attendance at the Edinglassie U.F.A. meeting last Thursday evening. Several matters of importance being dealt with. Satisfaction was expressed in the way the blinter twine had been handled. It was decided not to enter the Co-operative live stock shipping scheme until the John Duncan matter had been settled.

"Mary refused to marry you, then? Fancy that! Why didn't you tell her about your rich uncle?"

"I did."

"Didn't that make any difference?"

number, and certainly there were some outstanding animals in this bunch. This is also true of other breeds. The Hreestorf and Shorthorn classes both contained their share of outstanding animals, which were well worthy of a place in the larger fairs, the general run of exhibits were of an high standard, though perhaps a few were in somewhat rough condition for the show ring. Mr D. J. Christie, of Edmonton, the cattle judge, had a task of no slight difficulty to perform and was exceedingly careful in making his awards. In two instances there was a difference of opinion regarding his judgment, but he clearly stated his reasons for awards in each case.

Contrary to expectations the garden exhibits were fewer in number, it appeared that everybody was expecting such an influx of entries, that a number abstained to enter for this paradoxical reason; but the quality of the entries displayed left nothing to be desired.

The excellent quality of the sheaves of grain and grasses powerfully recalled to our memories our old-time visions of the "Golden West" in the days before we left the Old Country—those visions strong enough to make us leave all and follow the call of a "free 160 acres of virgin rich farm land."

Exhibits in the ladies department were of an excellent quality with a goodly number of entries, and awarding the prizes was no mean task especially in the Domestic Manufactures—Bread, Cakes, etc. While testing them, the judge, Mrs. Forence M. Masson, of Edmonton remarked,

"You must have some very good cooks in this district." A recommendation was made by Mrs. Masson that unless specified cakes should be left uniced, the icing not being judged unless it was called for in the section of the exhibit.

The exhibits in the various sections of plain and fancy needlework, darning, crochet and tatting, made a splendid display, the blending of colors in the embroideries and artistic classes, together with excellence of finish of details being very highly praised by the judge.

Some very good exhibits of knitting, patching and dressed dolls; also bread, cookies, candies and preserves were shown by the girls. The "Tiny Tots" were not least in the quality of their work.

The exhibits in the boys handicraft deserves mention, showing the ingenuity and industry of the exhibitors. During the afternoon an interesting program of sports was carried out. In addition to the races for the children there were a number of the increasing popular mounted events which were keenly enjoyed by the eager crowds that surrounded the ring.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

The lady directors of the Agricultural Society take this opportunity of thanking those willing workers who rendered such splendid service in the exhibition hall and booth, as well as those who generously came forward with donations for the booth.

In regard to the latter they want it to be known that all cake tins and cream jers left in the booth in the evening can be had by their respective owners by calling for them at the C. Fortryan store.

We feel also a word of appreciation is due our local paper which has consistently kept the fair and the interests of the society generally, before the reading public. For this reason we feel a share of credit is coming to the staff of the paper for the encouraging attendance at and interest displayed towards our annual agricultural exhibition.

and a dividend had been given to the shippers after expenses had been met. He described how the cattle were graded at the Winnipeg market and disposed of through the export and the dominion pools. Market prices were paid to the shippers and later a dividend. The first years work was had been a big success.

Mr. J. E. Hill related the experiences of co-operative shipping from Wainwright, which had proved very successful, and urged the local men to work on the same plan.

A general discussion followed, during which it was shown that the pool plan was not popular here because of the experience of John Duncan, one of the first of the local men to sell to the pool at Winnipeg. Mr Chas Miller was appointed a committee to enquire into this matter.

Mr. George Leggett spoke at his visit to the Old Country and stated that for the ten year period before the war farmer bankruptcies averaged 23 per year with an average of 21000 and that last year this had increased to 150 bankruptcies averaging 23500 each—the problem there was the same as here, "marketing." Parliament had had to give consideration to the matter and farmers were there urged to "organize."

Roros, Prosperity, Green Meadows and Edinburgias were represented at the meeting. It was moved by E. B. Lang, seconded by I. Nell; that a committee be appointed to ascertain the feeling of the Chauvin district in regard to forming an association. Motion carried.

C. Miller, Prosperity; T. Varty Green Meadows; G. Leggett, Roros; P. H. Perry, Edinburgias; E. B. Lang Killarney; P. Manson, Allrie; O. Mourin, St. Jean Baptiste, were appointed to act on this committee.

Saskatchewan Highways

The Saskatchewan highways department will construct 375 miles of road this year. The estimated cost is $1,100,000, of which sum the province will supply $660,000 and the Dominion the remaining $440,000. By the end of the present year it is expected 1,100 miles of highway out of a total of 7,000 miles covered by the federal aid scheme will have been completed.

Wheat Harvesting

Wheat harvesting is expected to commence in some districts about about August 10, although at one or two points it is reported that wheat cutting will start in the next two or three days. Cutting should be general by August 15. The provincial labor department estimates that 13,000 harvesters will be needed, and the first of these will arrive in the province about August 8 or 10. An appeal is also being made to employers all over the province to release as many employees as able to volunteer for work in the fields.

AMERICAN ALPINISTS MAKE FIRST ASCENTS OF PEAKS IN THE CANADIAN ROCKIES

Two of the highest peaks in Jasper National Park, Mount Chauvin and Mount Brazeau, have just been climbed for the first time. The honor of making these first ascents has fallen to Mr. Howard Palmer, of New London, Conn., and Mr. Allan Carpe, of New York, men who have won international reputations in Alpine work. It was Mr. Palmer who first ascended Mount Sir Sandford, the giant of the northern Selkirk. He is the vice-president of the American Alpine Club and a member of the Alpine Club of London. Mr. Carpe is a member of the American, Canadian and Swiss Alpine Clubs. Both are Fellows of the Royal Geographical Society.

The climbers left the Canadian National Railways at Jasper and proceeded to Maline Lake, a distance of thirty-five miles, and in seventeen days explored and mapped a territory of remarkable scenic beauty. Interviewed on their return to Jasper Park Lodge, they described the trip as one of the most interesting made in several years of mountaineering.

"The object of the expedition," said Mr. Carpe, "was to explore the mountains between Maline Lake and Brazeau Lake, particularly to locate and climb Mount Brazeau and to map the extensive Brazeau ice field. Mount Brazeau and Brazeau ice field were discovered and named by Prof. A. P. Coleman, of Toronto, who visited them in 1894 from the Brazeau Lake side and made an unsuccessful attempt to climb Mount Brazeau, which he estimated to be 11,000 feet high. The mountain had not been approached since then and the country had not been mapped, so that the location of Mount Brazeau and Brazeau ice field were uncertain. We made the first ascent of Mount Brazeau and three other nameless peaks in the vicinity, also of the prominent mountain on the south shore of Maline Lake, known as Mount Unwin. From our observations, we were able to identify the Mount Brazeau Range, with the mountains visible directly to the head of Maline Lake, about seven miles from the position shown on the current maps. We obtained other topographical data which has not yet been worked out."

For the ascent of Mount Brazeau we roved across Maline Lake to near its head and carried packs up the stream, entering from the south. From a camp at the head of this valley, we first climbed a peak on the south, about 5,300 feet high, for purposes of observation. Then, we left camp at six a.m., ascended the glacier at the head of the valley and climbed up an icy gully to the summit of the fine dome-shaped snow peak visible from the lake. This peak is about 10,600 feet high and is situated on the sides of the large Brazeau ice field, of which it commands a good view. This summit was reached at one p.m. Proceeding along the crest of the range towards the north we reached a second summit of nearly the same height at about 3:30 p.m., and at last attained the main summit of Mount Brazeau at 6:30 p.m., over very steep snow slopes. The altitude of Mount Brazeau appears to be at least 11,000 feet. Leaving the summit at 6:30 p.m., we retraced the same route and reached camp at 1:20 a.m., the descent of the glacier being made in total darkness.

"Mount Unwin was climbed from the southwest from a camp in the Maline Valley about twelve miles above the foot of Maline Lake. This is a double-topped mountain, both summits being well over ten thousand feet. The south and west faces are made up of an intricate series of cliffs and ridges through which we climbed to the final snow-covered summit. In several places, impassable cliffs were circumvented by traverses on icy ledges and in steep couloirs, requiring step cutting. We left camp at 5:45 a.m.; the summit was reached at 4:15 p.m., and camp regained at 10:50 p.m.

"The view from Mount Unwin was among the most expensive which we have ever seen, extending from Mount Forbes in the south through the Columbia group, with Mount Alberta and the great Columbia ice field, the Hood River and Hooper groups, Mounts Fryatt and Cavell, the Fraser and Gelikie groups to Mount Robson and Resolution in the north and the Brazeau Range to the east. In the distance, Mount Sir Sandford and the Adamant Range, in the northern Selkirk, were clearly visible, and nameless peaks on the Gold and Cariboo Ranges."

Alberta Dairy Cows Produce More Than Their Own Value

There are 406,000 dairy cows in Alberta, valued at $19,500,000. Last year the product of these cows was worth $23,500,000, or $3,500,000 more than their own value. The butter output amounted to 13,900,000 lbs. 65 per cent of which was produced in the central sections, 40% per cent of the total being manufactured by creameries in Edmonton. Two of the 150-mountain creameries are now making regular shipments to the Orient. The industry is growing rapidly in Alberta as well as in the other western provinces.

Lloydminster Cow Breaks Prairie Record

"Typical Ayrshire Handson" a five year old cow owned by G. Thomas and Sons, Lloydminster, has established an official record of 13,841 lbs of milk and 583 lbs of fat for a 365 day period. This is the highest record yet made for an Ayrshire in the prairie provinces.

Field Crop Competitions

Field crop competitions under the auspices of the agricultural societies at six different points in the province will be held this year.

The points holding competitions are Vainwright, Camrose Killam, Lloydminster, High River, Lake Saskatchewan. Inspection of crops for registered seed will commence shortly.

Saskatchewan Co-operation

In Saskatchewan to-day there are 16,849 shareholders in co-operative associations, which last year had a trade turnover, including livestock of $1,107,239, realizing a profit of $110,597. The capital invested is about $500,000. There are 30 associations in the province incorporated under the Co-operative Act for the purpose of erecting community halls, and 12 others are being organized with that object in view.

Prairie Fruit Culture

Dr. Seeger Wheeler, the wheat wizard of Rosthern, Sask., has turned his attention to fruit culture as well as grain. He has 10 varieties of apples and several varieties of plums and pears, also apes, in his orchard. So far his experiments have been eminently successful.

Immigration Increase

Immigration to Canada from overseas countries during the first five months of this year shows an increase of forty-three per cent over that for the corresponding period of 1922. There was during that five months a very marked immigration from Great Britain. There was also a very considerable increase from the United States.

Everybody knows that college bred implies a four years' loaf.

A Cheap Cellar Is Enough To Winter Bees

Those who have hesitated to make a start with bees for fear they might not be able to winter them successfully have nothing to worry about on St. Mack, of Lumsden, Sask., one of the most successful apiculturists in the province. Mr. Mack last only three colonies out of twenty-two last winter and states that two of those were smothered and that this was the first loss in three years.

In the following article Mr. Mack tells in detail how to construct a cellar for keeping bees in the winter months, this winter shelter being very easily constructed and inexpensive.

"For those who intend keeping only a few colonies the ordinary house cellar will do provided it is dry, dark, well ventilated and an even temperature, but those who intend to keep ten or more colonies I would recommend a bee cellar."

"After experimenting with various cellars, and after a three year test with the present one I feel safe in recommending it. I lost only three out of twenty-two colonies this year and two of these were smothered and this was the first loss in three years."

"The construction of this cellar is simple and cheap being built of old railroad ties. I had the advantage of a sidehill, so the floor is level with the ground. It is 7 feet 6 inches square inside with a porch 5 feet by 2 feet 6 inches. The porch door is single ply tongue and groove lumber, cellar door is double with two inches sawdust packing and a stove pipe in the roof for a ventilator. The whole thing is covered with earth. This cellar will accommodate thirty colonies."

"The bee cellar must be dark, dry, well ventilated and of an even temperature of about 34 degrees F. 45 degrees F. is recommended by some but I find that too warm for the province. If one cannot secure old ties a cellar built of sod will answer the purpose. Avoid cement."

"I am sure that my bees are in double walled hives packed with sawdust, which means a wonderful protection when put out in the spring as they hold an even temperature in our changeable weather. Other bee-men report good success with a single well hive. Whatever kind you buy get the best to assure success."

"Saskatchewan offers a bright future for the bee keeper if he will only adopt methods suitable for the province."

Some time ago a person in an industrial town arranged a special service for working men.

The service was well attended, and the preacher began his sermon with the remark: "Rarely indeed have I been privileged to address so many tons of soil."

Mermaid Hair Nets—real human hair—are almost invisible and keep the hair in place after being combed. The hair is put through a sterilizing process before being made up. This process is carried out in England and the hair is then sent direct to China where the nets are made up. They are then brought back to Canada and we sell them at 2 for 25c any shade to match your hair.

The Funny Side Of Life

An incredibly fat man got into a "bun". He almost smothered a sour-faced man when he sat down. The sour-faced man glared at him and growled: "They ought to charge by weight in these buses."

"In that case," bellowed the fat man, "It wouldn't be worth while stopping to pick you up."

White: "Have you ever timed your car?"

Gray: "Oh, yes. It stood perfectly still for forty-eight minutes on the road to-day."

Mrs.: "What are you thinking of?"

Mr.: "Nothing!"

Mrs.: "Oh, do take your mind off yourself!"

Counsel: "Tell me, was not the defendant in the habit of talking to himself when alone?"

Witness: "I am sure I don't know."

"You don't know; and yet you were intimate friends. Why don't you know?"

"I was never with him when he was alone."

She: "I think it is so silly to throw kisses. Don't you?"

He: "Rather. I prefer to deliver the goods."

"Daddy, can you still do tricks?"

"What do you mean, my son, 'do tricks'?"

"Well, mamma says that when you were young you used to drink like a fish."

Lecturer, "Sedentary life tends to lessen the endurance."

Student: "In other words, the more one sits the less one can stand."

"Exactly; and if one lies a great deal, one's standing is completely lost."

Jim had just become the proud father of bouncing twin babies, when he encountered one of his wife's women friends.

"Congratulations!" she said, "I hear your wife gave birth to twins."

"Think you!" he answered excitedly. "The same to you, and many of them."

Teacher: (intent on the lesson): "And vast swarms of flies descended on the land, and came into the houses of the Egyptians, and covered their clothing, their tables, and all their food, but there were no flies on the children of Israel."

Boy: "Please, ma'am, there ain't now, either."

Mrs. Hillie: (to lady friend): "So you are coming to see us on Thursday I need scarcely say how pleased we shall be to see your husband also, if it is only to fetch you away."

"Dad, what's a monologue?"

"A monologue is a conversation between husband and wife."

"I thought that was a dialogue."

"No, a dialogue is where two persons are speaking."

At the close of a wedding breakfast a guest noted for his blunders rose to his feet, causing keen anxiety to all who knew him!

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "I drink to the health of the bridegroom! May he see many days like this."

Gray: "Did you receive an invitation to Flaherty's wedding?"

White: "Yes, but I didn't attend the ceremony."

"What kind of a present did you give him?"

"I sent him the bill for the twenty-five dollars he borrowed from me to help pay for his engagement ring!"

See Parcells & Foxwell before shipping your livestock.

"Mamma, I wish I had a little sister."

"Why do you wish that dear?"

"'Cause I'm tired of teasin' the cat."

"What is the hardest thing about farming?"

"Getting up at five o'clock in the morning."

Miss J: "George says he admires me most because I am the picture of health."

Miss Y: "Yes, the poor fellow was always crazy about anything hand-painted."

"That horse know's as much as I do."

"Well, don't tell anybody. Yu might want to sell him one day!"

Fashion decrees a longer skirt.

Will lanky women wear it? A maiden with a shapely calf Will doubtless grin and bear it.

Mother: "Jimmie, you've got a black eye, and your clothes are torn to shreds. How often have I told you not to play with those bad boys?"

Jimmie: "Do I look like I'd been been playing, mother?"
